DENSO Group Germany – Relaunch of Corporate Website www.denso.de

Leverkusen, May, 3rd, 2016 – DENSO Group Germany, leading supplier of corrosion prevention and sealing technology, launches its new corporate website. The website offers substantial new content, optimised technology and an appealing, modern design.

Oriented on the demands of the customers, the product display has undergone a clear restructuring and an innovative product finder helps to easily select the right product.

The new mobile-friendly website for the companies DENSO and DEKOTEC offers an intuitive navigation with a high degree of user-friendliness on any devices, such as PC/Laptop, tablet or smartphone.

“When developing the new portal, our aim was to focus on the customer needs in our key markets,” says Max Wedekind, Managing Director. “Therefore, we are very happy to offer a multilingual site with five languages, an easy click to find the right product and immediate contact to our sales team.”

DENSO Group Germany
